

A Blackboard test should be deployed in the class twice.

One version of the test must require Respondus Lockdown Browser and Respondus Monitor.

Another version will not require these, for students who don't have the capability to take their tests using the Lockdown Browser and Monitor.

After the students have practiced using Lockdown Browser and Monitor on their short practice quiz, some students will be identified as needing live proctoring.

Students needing to take the live proctored test would access it through adaptive release or

The students needing live proctoring will be put in a Blackboard "Group." The second test will be available only to this Blackboard Group.

The grades from the two groups of students taking the two versions of the test will be in two different Blackboard Grade Center columns.

The live proctored test scores would not be calculated in the Grade Center totals.

The grades from the live proctored test would need to be manually added to the other Grade Center column.
